THE CBD CHANGING USE

Floor space by use in the 83 CBD blocks, 2002 to 2024 (published cells). The cards show the census year picked.

Census year

2024

Office floor space, CBD, m²

2,833,795

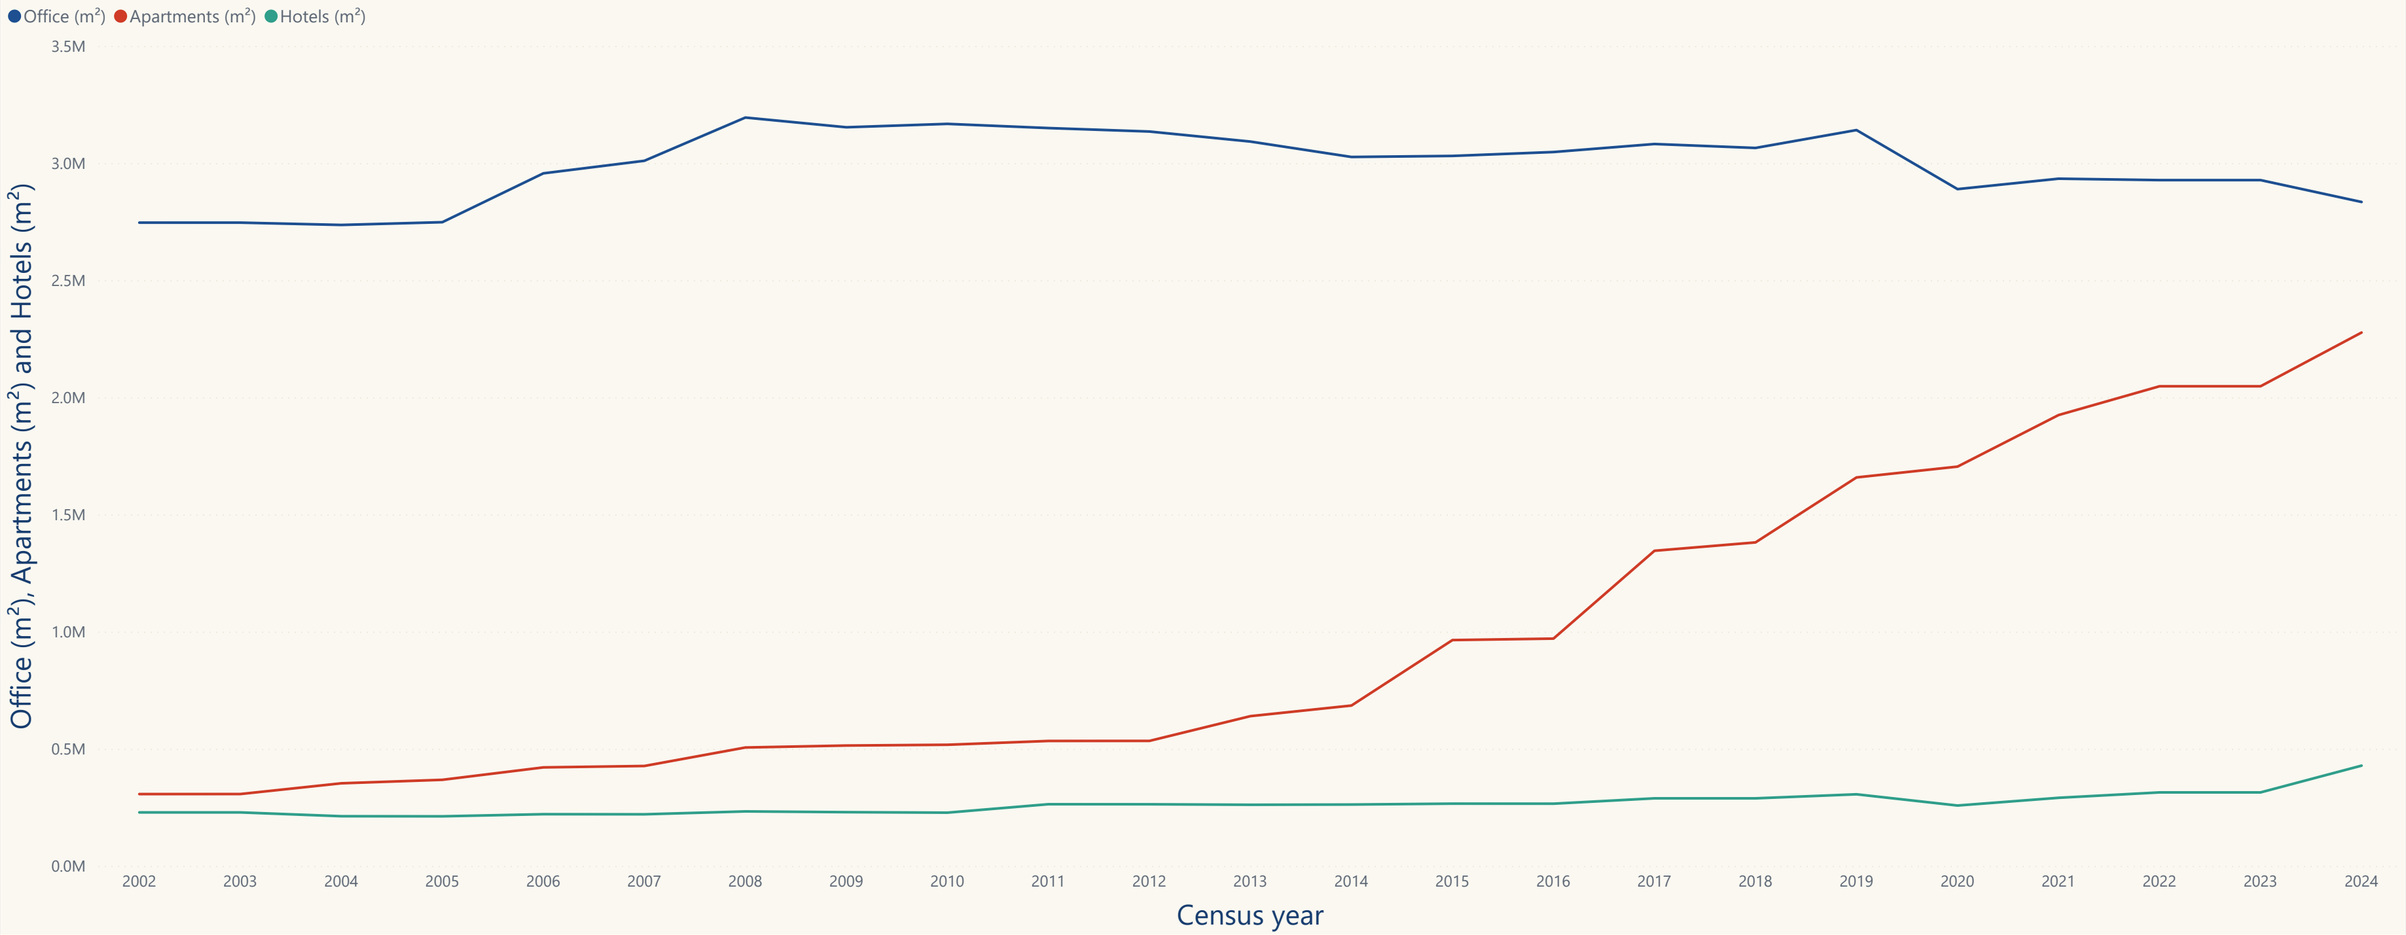

Apartment floor space, CBD, m²

2,276,604

Hotel floor space, CBD, m²

427,960

Office, apartments and hotels, m², 2002 to 2024

Census of Land Use and Employment (CLUE) floor space per block, 2002 to 2024, and CLUE blocks: City of Melbourne Open Data, CC BY 4.0. Blocks keyed in Plotlay (getplotlay.com). Cells for two businesses or fewer are held back by the census and stay blank. Blocks, not buildings. Map context: ABS ASGS 2021 suburbs (CC BY 4.0), Vicmap Hydro (CC BY 4.0).

APARTMENTS BY BLOCK

Apartments as a share of each block's floor space, for the census year picked (2024 to start).

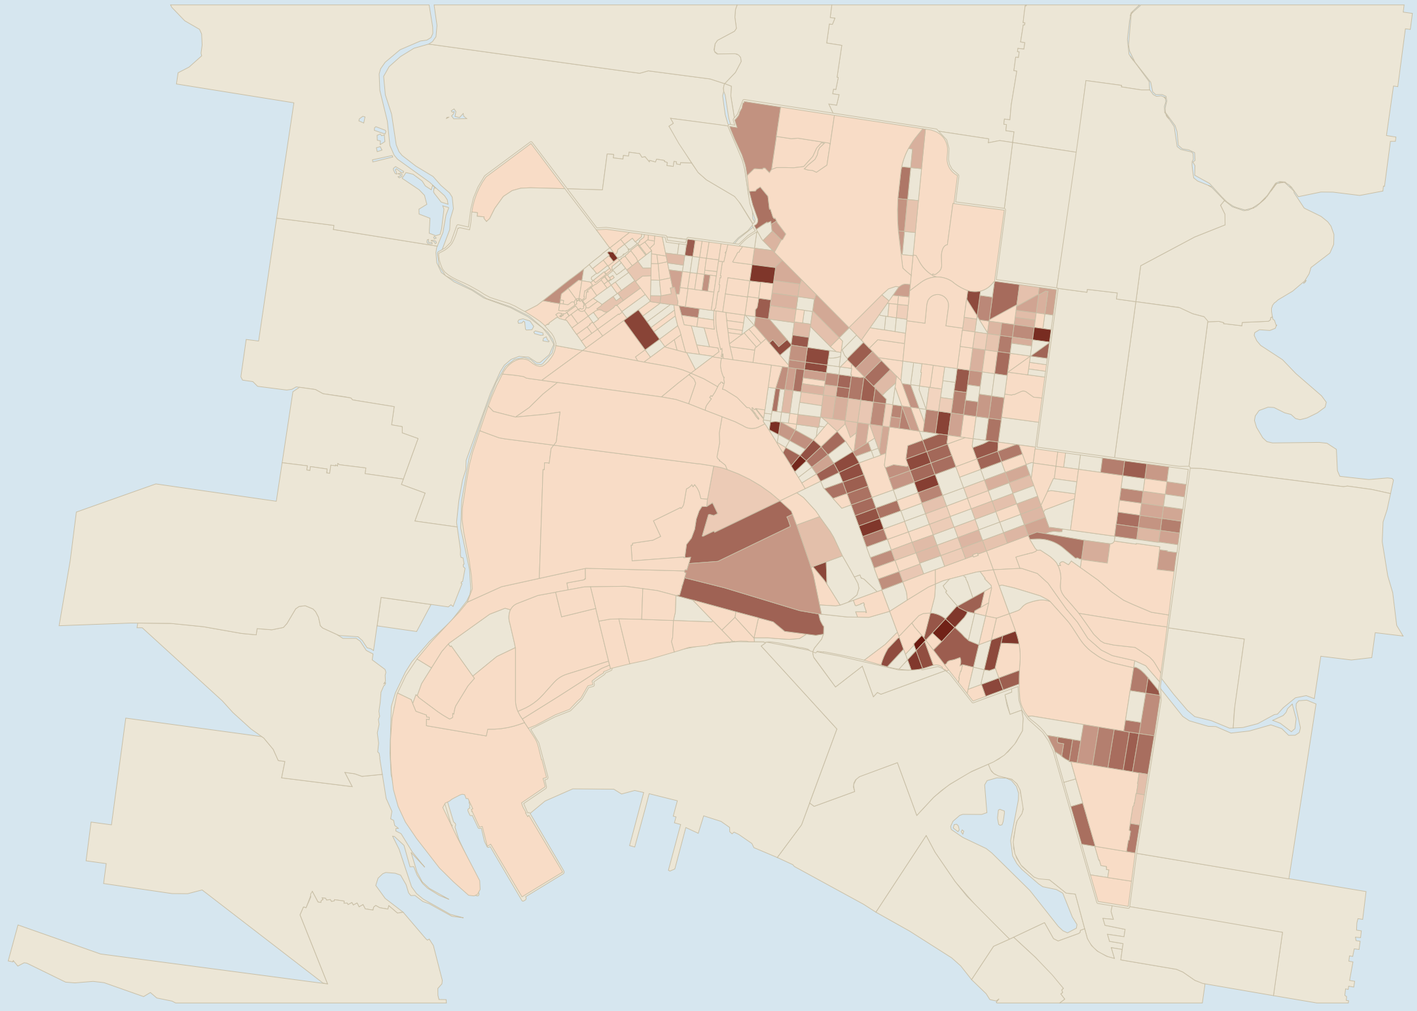

Census year

2024

Apartments share of floor space, year picked darker: larger share

paler: smaller share

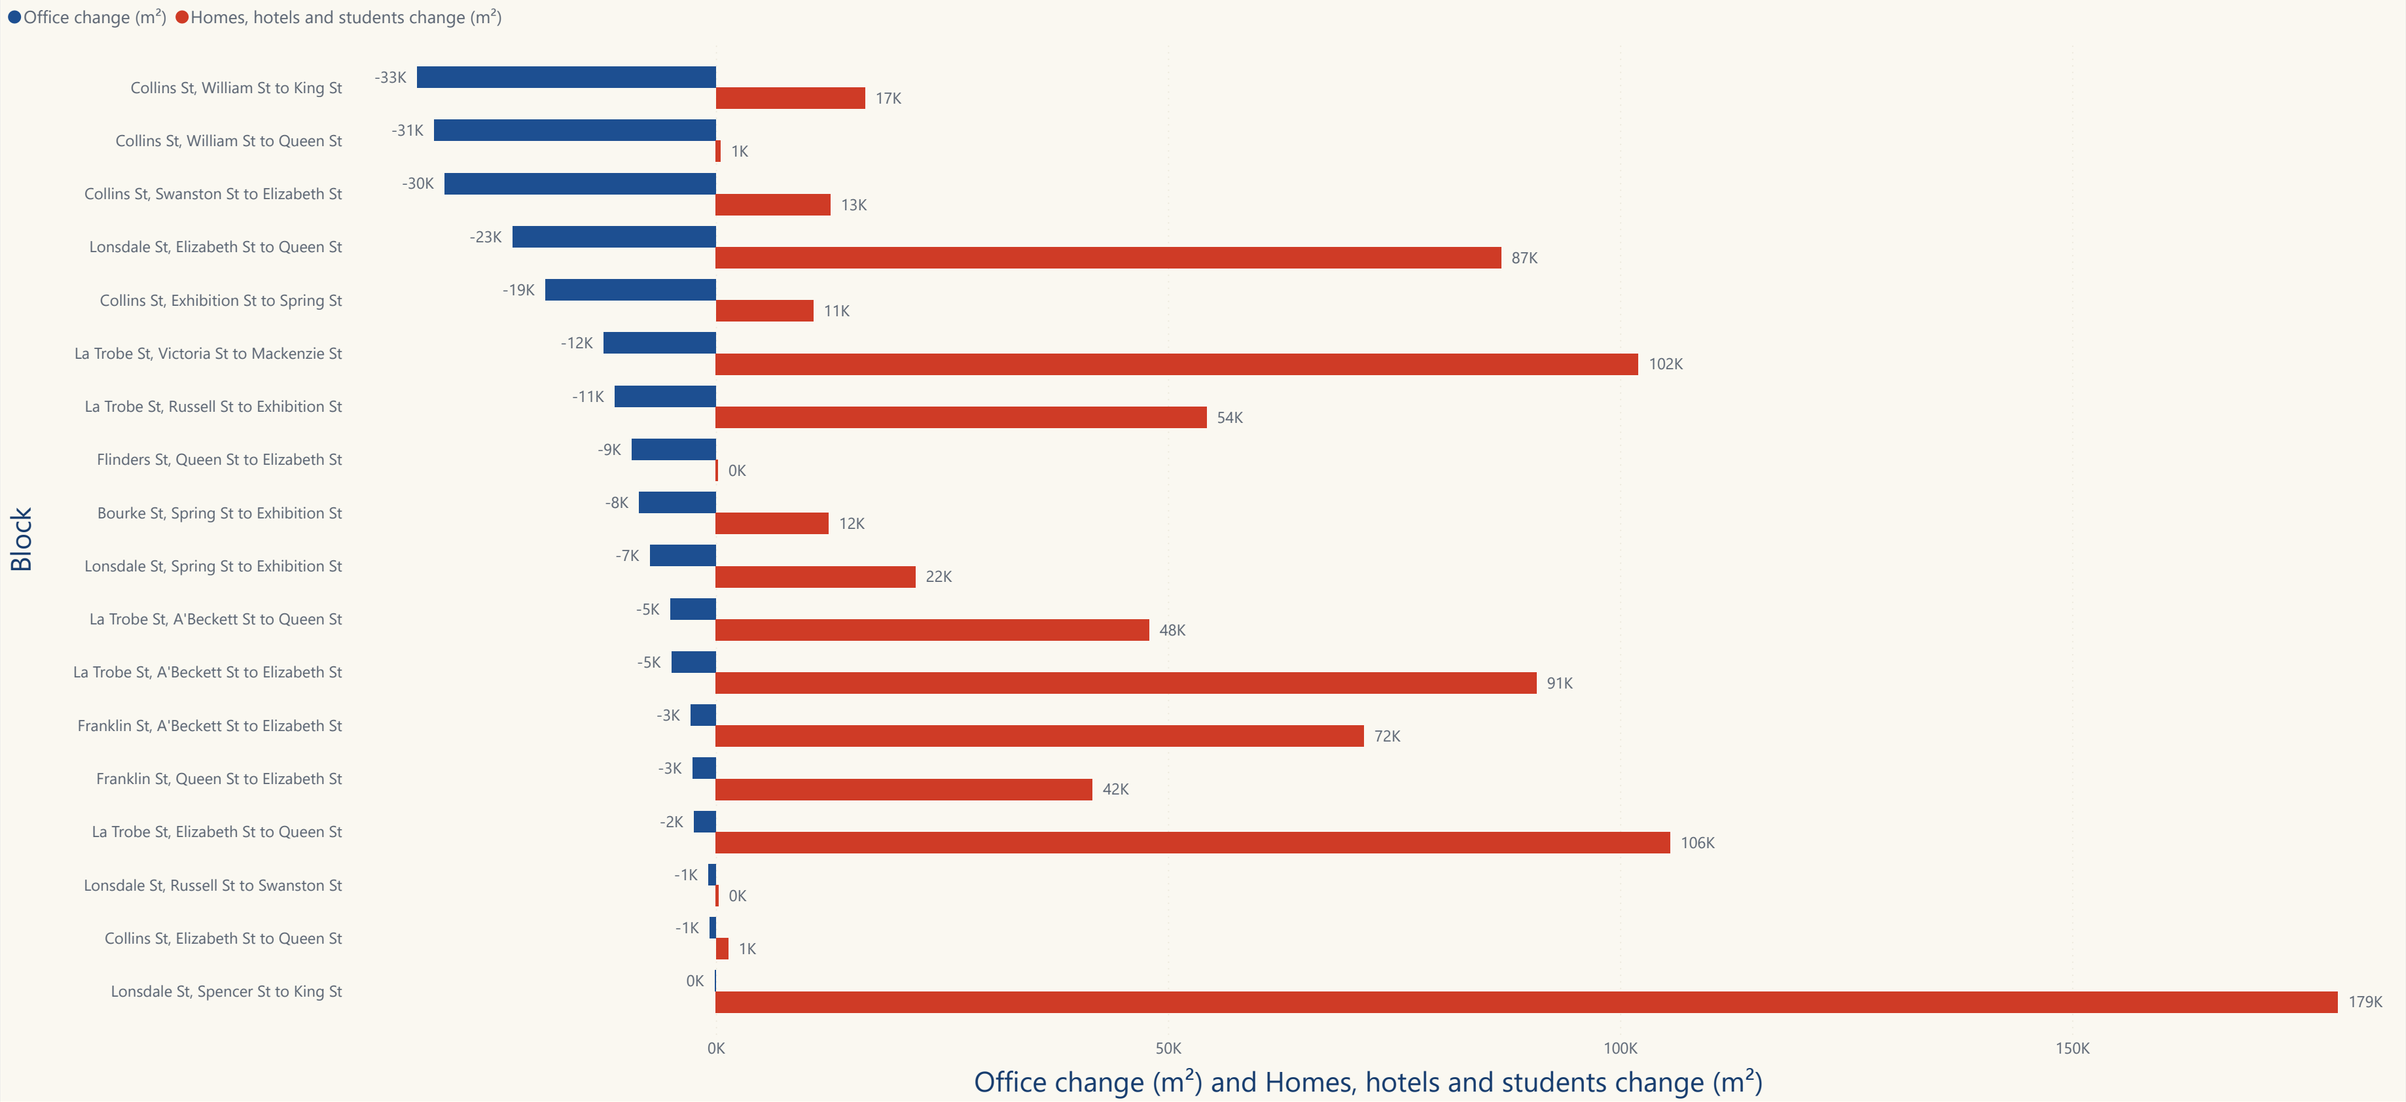

Census of Land Use and Employment (CLUE) floor space per block, 2002 to 2024, and CLUE blocks: City of Melbourne Open Data, CC BY 4.0. Blocks keyed in Plotlay (getplotlay.com). Cells for two businesses or fewer are held back by the census and stay blank. Blocks, not buildings. Map context: ABS ASGS 2021 suburbs (CC BY 4.0), Vicmap Hydro (CC BY 4.0).

OFFICE OUT, HOMES AND HOTELS IN

The 19 CBD blocks that lost office and gained apartments, hotels or student rooms, 2002 to 2024, where published. Most office lost first.

Change in floor space, m², 2002 to 2024

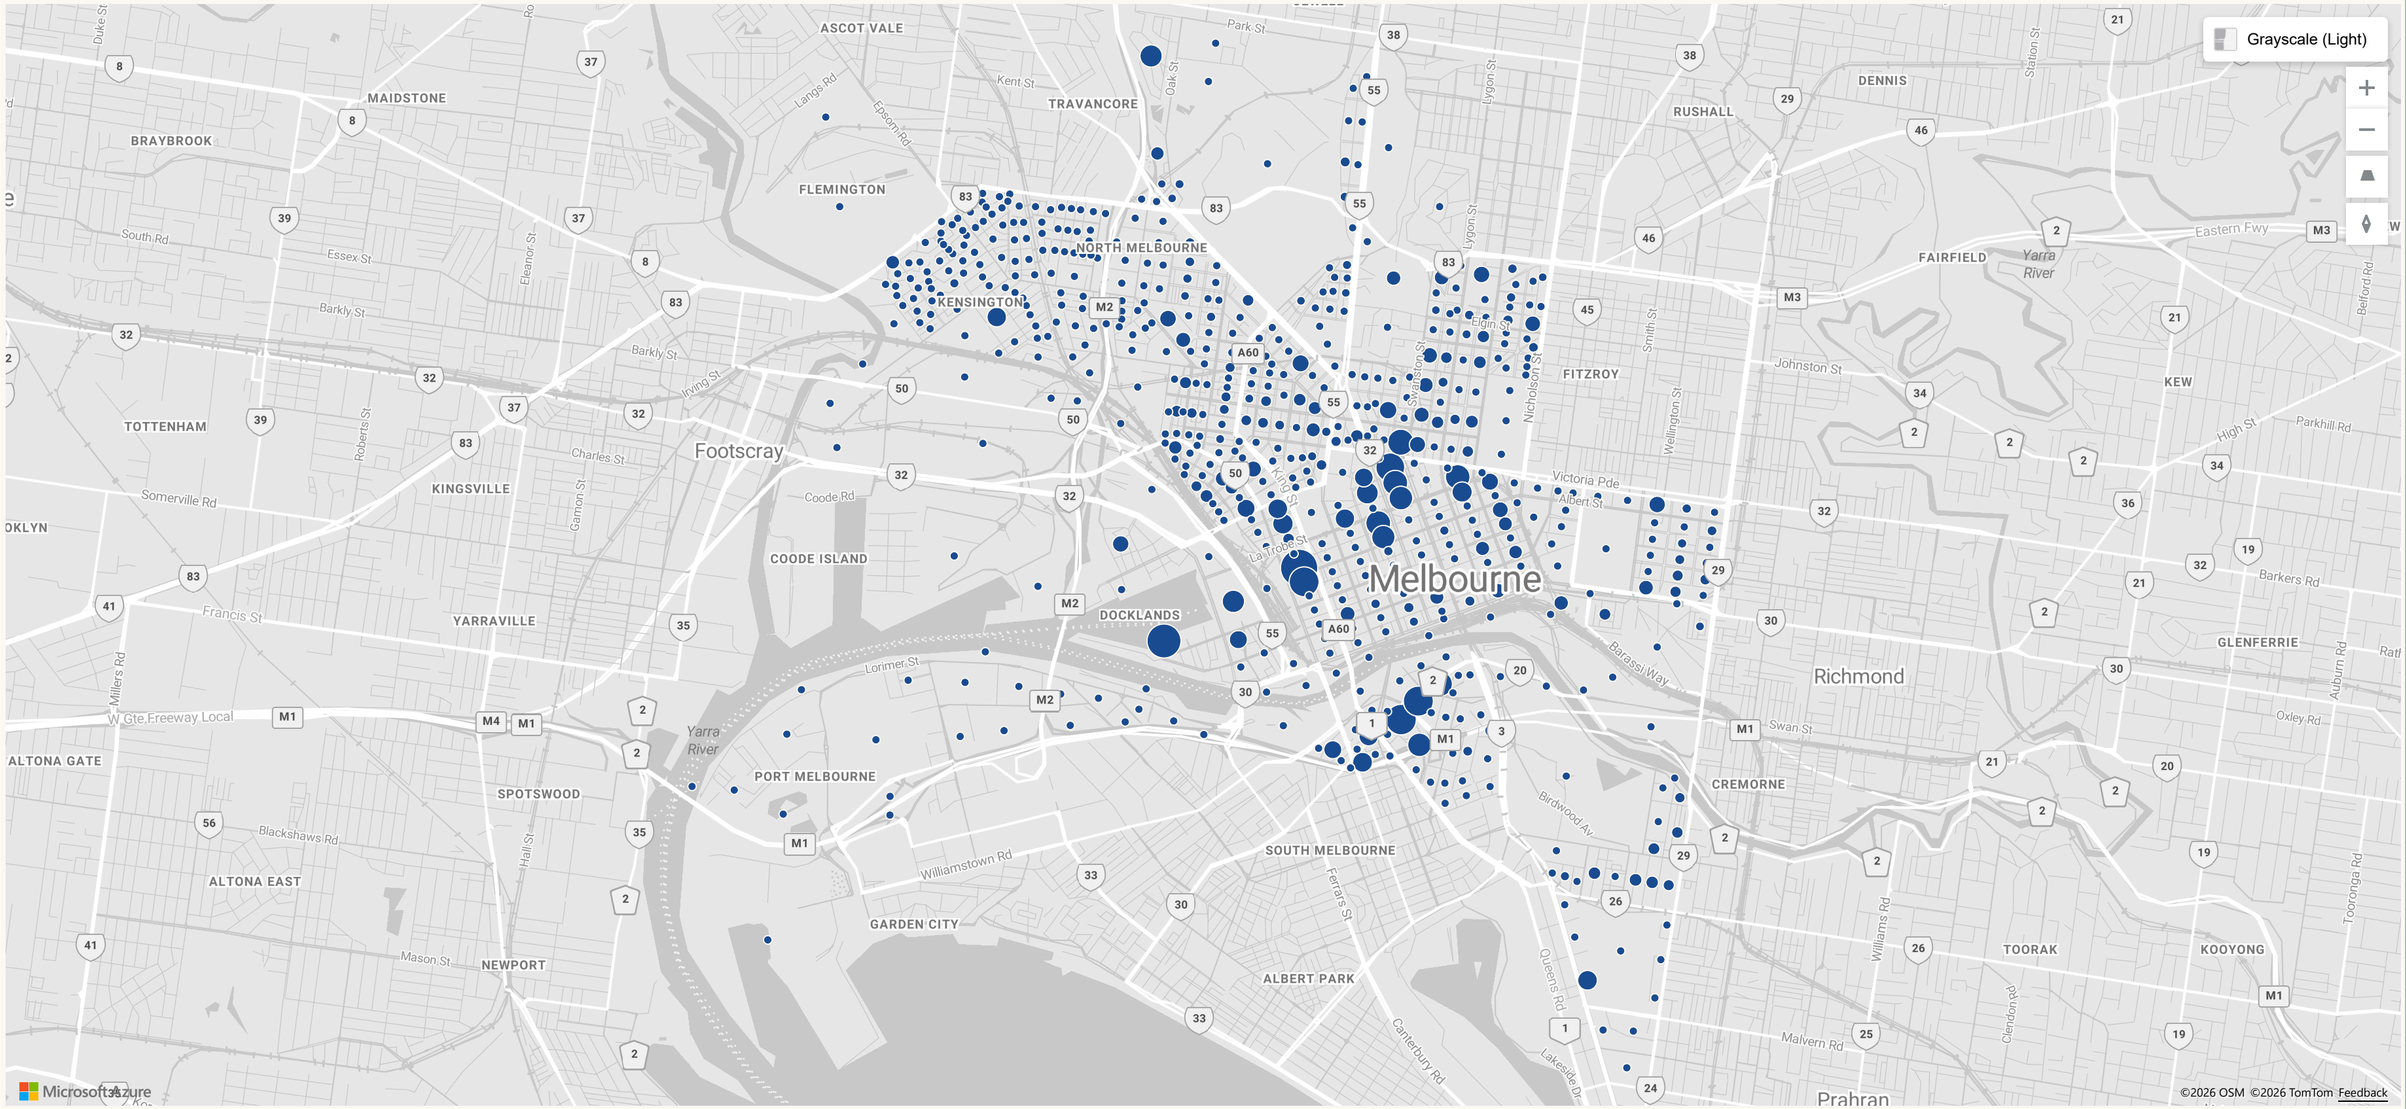

Census of Land Use and Employment (CLUE) floor space per block, 2002 to 2024, and CLUE blocks: City of Melbourne Open Data, CC BY 4.0. Blocks keyed in Plotlay (getplotlay.com). Cells for two businesses or fewer are held back by the census and stay blank. Blocks, not buildings. Map context: ABS ASGS 2021 suburbs (CC BY 4.0), Vicmap Hydro (CC BY 4.0).

WHERE

Azure Maps: add data/geometry/blocks.geojson as a reference layer (Format visual, Reference layer) for the block outlines; it joins on the block id.

Blocks (bubble: apartments, hotels and student rooms gained, 2002 to 2024)

Census of Land Use and Employment (CLUE) floor space per block, 2002 to 2024, and CLUE blocks: City of Melbourne Open Data, CC BY 4.0. Blocks keyed in Plotlay (getplotlay.com). Cells for two businesses or fewer are held back by the census and stay blank. Blocks, not buildings. Map context: ABS ASGS 2021 suburbs (CC BY 4.0), Vicmap Hydro (CC BY 4.0).